EXCHANGING SEX FOR FAVOURS

IS LEGAL TO DO IN NSW

It is not a criminal offence
and you can make a report
without getting in trouble if something bad happens you when exchanging sex for favours.

WHEN EXCHANGING IN FAVOURS, REMEMBER:

- Your safety comes first.
- Trust your gut. If it doesn't feel right, you can leave.
- You can stop at any time. Consent can change anytime.
- Choose places you know or suggest an area you feel safe.
- Know your own limits, what feels right and what doesn't.
- You don't have to explain your boundaries. "No" is enough.
- If you can, remember some identifying details, what they look like, their car, rego number, or where you met.
- Let someone know where you're going and who you're with.
- Mention it out loud or fake a phone call so the person you're with knows you have someone looking out for you.
- If you're having sex, use condoms and lube. This helps prevent STIs, pregnancy, skin tears, and condom breakage.
- If drugs are involved, you can still report a crime. You won't get in trouble for drug use or possession when seeking help.
